

Jacksonville
Urban League

The Historic Springfield Community Learning Center is a partnership between Wells Fargo Bank and the Jacksonville Economic and Community Development Foundation. The Center is intended to be a place where individuals and organizations can learn, convene, receive support, and collaborate. Residents and organizations located in or serving Springfield are a priority for the Center's work.

All of the programs, services, and events held at the Center are intended to support the Center's guiding principals to promote:

- Small business development
- Homeownership
- Financial literacy
- Job skills training
- Support of the nonprofit sector

The Center is intended to be a hub for Wells Fargo's Springfield Initiative demonstrating that community-based partnerships can improve the economic self-sufficiency of the residents and the economic vitality of the neighborhood.
